JOHN BEUS AND MARGARET JUSTET

DESCENDANTS

JOHN BEUS AND MARGARET JUSTET

John Beus

My father, John Beus, was born December 11, 1843 in one of the valleys of the Piedmont, northern Italy, to Michael Beus and Marianne Combe. He was the fifth child of a family of eleven children.

His parents were of French descent and belonged to a protestant group. This group had suffered much severe persecution during several generations, but in spite of this they still clung to the faith of their fathers. This group was characterized by strong religious convictions for which many thousands had fought and died during previous generations. The story of their persecutions is one of the saddest of all human persecutions that blackened the pages of civilization in Europe during the Reformation.

John Beus and Margaret Justet

The Beuses were small farmers and lived by hard work and strict economy. They lived very simply, as did most of their neighbors. There came among these people a few missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, who first began their labors in 1850, under the direction of Apostle Lorenzo Snow. The missionaries met with great success. Thirty families from this small group joined the church.

Among the few converts was the Beus family. They were baptized in the year 1850. In November 1855 they responded to an invitation by the mission president, Franklin D. Richards, to emigrate to Zion. December 12, 1855 the family, consisting of Michael, Marianne and eight children: Anne, James, John, Michael, Paul, Louis P., Mary and Magdalene, left Liverpool, England, after having traveled there from Italy, and crossed the Atlantic to New York. The trip took 66 days. They came on the ship John Boyd, arriving in New York 16 February, 1856. They had lost the youngest child while in England.

The usual method of crossing the plains was by ox team. This was very slow. The able-bodied walked alongside their slow-moving wagons. So the idea of handcart companies was suggested. Furthermore, handcarts were much cheaper than wagons and oxen. This method would greatly aid the poor immigrants.

For the story of their trip across the plains, see the history of Michael Beus and Marianne Combe in this book.

They arrived in Salt Lake City, September 26, 1856, having been more than three months on their weary trek. The Beus family went to Ogden or Bingham Fort and built a dug-out, the roof being made of willows, cattails and earth. In the spring they went south to Payson for a while [This is the only account we have of the Payson stay.]. When they returned they settled at Burch Creek (now part of Ogden) and started farming along the Weber river. The men went to Ogden canyon to help get the timber to build the Ogden Tabernacle.

Grandfather wanted his family to build their homes close to his, as he had taken plenty of land at Burch Creek on the Ogden bench.

My father was thirteen years old when they came to this country. Later he worked at a sawmill in Piedmont, Wyoming. My mother, Margaret Justet, was working and cooking for a family by the name of Byrne [See Moses Byrne history] at this camp. Later she and father were married in the Endowment House at Salt Lake City, 28 Sept. 1874.

Father built a one-room rock house on the land his father let him have, and they lived there. Two boys were born in this home. Michael John Beus was born 26 June 1875, and Daniel Beus was born 31 Oct. 1876. Then father built a larger house on the same ground. It was here that I, Marian Nettie Beus was born 25 Aug 1878. Soon after father decided to move away. He settled at Paradise, Cache, Utah, where another boy, James, was born 29 September 1880. Afterward we left there and lived at Brigham City, Utah. While living there father got a ranch across the Lake on the Promontory. We lived there a few years. While living there David Herbert Beus was born, 25 May 1885, at Logan, Cache, Utah.

Father raised cattle and was just getting a good start when he found we were on railroad land, so had to move again. However the railroad paid for the improvements.

We moved back to Ogden and took care of grandfather's place that summer, but had no place to winter the cattle. So father started looking for a place to buy, somewhere where he could raise cattle. He finally bought a place on Raft River, Utah. We moved there in November. The snow was a foot or more deep and it surely looked terribly lonesome. We could only see one other place, just a little log house with dirt roof. We felt as though we had gotten away from civilization. The nearest store was at Almo, Idaho, ten miles away. The post office was at Yost, Utah, seven miles away. There was no school or church. Later a branch of the church was organized at Yost and father was selected to be Presiding Elder over the branch.

We went to church either in a lumber wagon or on horseback. No matter how bad the weather we nearly always went to church. Sunday School would be held in some one's home. Nearly all the people at Yost were Mormons and they surely welcomed being able to have a branch of the church there.

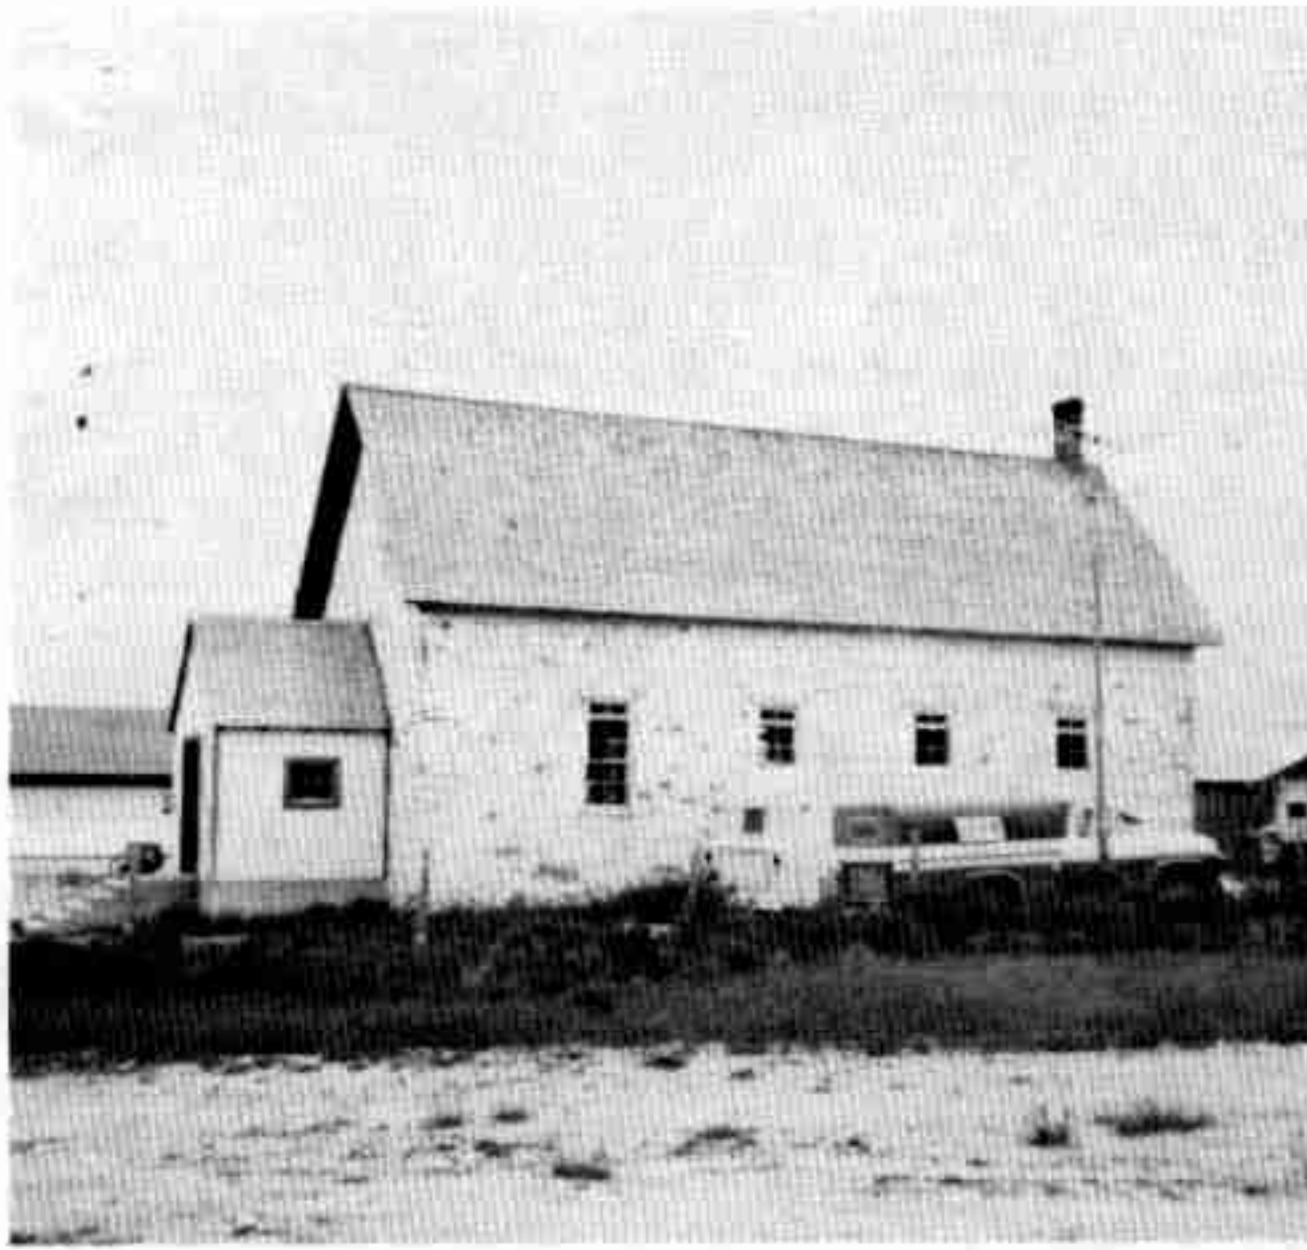

Later they built a log meeting house with dirt roof and the seats were split logs with little round poles for legs. After a time they had a school there. They built a desk on the side of the wall and the children sat on the log seats pulled up to the desk. School was only held a few weeks in the fall and again in the spring, as the winters were too severe for the children to come to school so far. Father built a log cabin close to the school and my brothers and I, with two other girls stayed there and attended school.

While living here at Raft River one more brother, William Ariel, was born 26 November 1896, at Hooper, Utah. This made five boys and one girl, myself.

Father hauled sandstone rocks and built a seven room house, but the only water we had for house use was ditch water, and so many times there were cloud bursts that would wash the bridges away. We couldn't cross the river to go for mail or anything until a new bridge could be built. The water would be like mud for days. The only way we could use the water was when father would put prickly pears, cut open, in a bucket of water and the dirt would settle. He dug a well, but the water tasted like coal oil, so it could not be used.

Margaret

The church at Yost, Utah they helped build and furnish

There was no doctor nearer than 35 miles and no drug stores. We gathered herbs from the mountains in the summer and dried them to use for medicine.

There were many Indians who came every fall to gather pine nuts. Always some of them would stop at the house for something to eat. They would ask for tea, sugar, bread and flour. Sometimes mother would have something cooked and the Indians would squat down in a circle in the door yard and eat. We children would sometimes feel afraid of them. Father was very big hearted and any going by or traveling was always welcome to feed their horses, have their meals and stay all night. He never took pay from them.

In the fall he would take extra wheat to the mill so there would be plenty of flour. If some of the neighbors did not have enough he helped them out. There was one thing that he believed in strongly, and that was to do for the other fellow as you would like to have him do to you.

He built a rock meeting house at Yost, Utah, which they still use, but he never lived to see it all finished. He took sick and died 23 Oct. 1899 at the age of 55 years. He was laid away in a home-made coffin covered with black velvet and lined with white silk, at Yost, Box Elder County, Utah.

MICHAEL JOHN BEUS AND SARAH ELIZABETH YATES

Michael John Beus

Michael John Beus was born June 26, 1875 at Ogden, Weber, Utah, the eldest son of John and Margaret Justet Beus. The family moved to Yost, Utah, where they were engaged in farming and stock raising. Johnny, as Michael John was called, being the oldest in the family was very good to help his mother after his father died, also his brothers Daniel, James, David Herbert and William Areal, and one sister Marian Nettie, also a half sister, Margaret Jane Smart.

Johnny married a girl from Yost by the name of Sarah Elizabeth Yates, a daughter of Hyrum Butterly Yates and Margaret Barker Forsythe Yates. They were married Christmas Day, December 25, 1897 at Almo, Idaho. Sarah was born April 3, 1875 at Park Valley, Box Elder, Utah. She was the eldest of a family of seven children. Tall and stately of stature, quiet and soft spoken, kind and patient to one and all, she was a wonderful wife and mother. Both Johnny and Sadie, as she was lovingly called, were admired and respected for their honesty and integrity through their entire lives.

They later moved to Moreland, Idaho, where Johnny engaged in farming. He did not care for farm work, and soon gave it up, to drill wells with Lee Monson as partner. They soon expanded their business to include grain harvesting, purchased a separator for threshing the grain and were kept busy throughout the county. They carried on these two businesses for many years.

Johnny took an active part in the life of the community and helped to make it a better place in which to live and raise his family. He was deputy sheriff of the town for several years.

Johnny was a hard worker and although he was only five feet eight inches tall and weighed 140 to 150 pounds, he was very quick in his movements and he did his job as nearly perfect as it was possible to do it. He had brown eyes and hair, had a keen sense of humor, was quick to anger, but fair in all his dealings. He and his wife lived out the most of their lives in the home they bought soon after they moved to Moreland.

They raised a family of four, which was a great joy to them: Illa was born 25 Aug. 1899 at Yost, Idaho and married Owen Moss Hale 4 Feb. 1925; Alvin was born 27 Oct. 1902 at Yost, and married Gladys Wheeler 25 Jan 1928; Harold was born 14 Nov 1905 at Moreland, Bingham, Idaho and married Deliah Beckstead 5 Jan. 1929; John Orval was born 10 April 1913 at Moreland, Idaho and married Florence LeMay Sheen Durkee 12 July 1941.

Sarah Elizabeth was very devout in her religious beliefs and attended to her meetings as often as possible. She was always ready and willing to help the sick and needy and to care for the dead. She did these things with Johnny's permission. Although he did not attend church services, he knew the Bible well and could quote many passages from it's pages. He lived a good life, and set a fine example to his children.

Sadie was a really wonderful cook with the food Johnny so generously provided. Her fruitcakes were the talk of the town and much in demand for special occasions.

Johnny developed cancer in 1928 and passed away on December 15, 1929 at the age 54. He had loved the sport of fishing and big-game hunting. The last eight years of his life he worked with the Wheeler and England road construction Co. He also sharpened steel and did some blacksmithing.

Sadie lived alone in her own home in Moreland after her youngest son married in 1941. She was subject to bad headaches most of her life, but was seldom seriously ill and was able to care for herself until the last year of her life. She died at the age of 80 years, June 12, 1955.

She had her husband's and her own temple endowments done 15 July 1931 and was sealed to Johnny that same day.

DANIEL BEUS

Daniel Beus, where he loved to be

Daniel Beus was born 31 October 1876 at Ogden, Weber, Utah to John Beus and Margaret Justet. He never married. He was a rancher all his life, raising sheep and cattle. He always lived on the home ranch on Raft River, Utah.

He was a friend to every one. They all knew they could go to him for help whenever needed. He died at Soda Springs, Idaho the 15th of March 1943.

Anon.

[Daniel lived alone, frugally, saving all his money and using it from time to time to buy more land. At the time of his death he owned land in Idaho, Utah and Nevada. One fellow who worked for him for twenty years said Dan was the finest man to work for he could imagine.

The story is told that in the early days, when Dan and his father, John, began raising sheep in that country the cattlemen were unhappy about it. Some of them hired a gunslinger to go after Dan, but some friends told him about it and he was prepared. He took a rifle and climbed a tree near his home. As the stranger approached he hailed him, saying "Hold it right there! If you come any closer they'll have to carry you out. I know why you're here, and if you want to turn around and leave the country and never come back then do it now, otherwise come ahead." The hired gunslinger left and was not heard from again.]

MARIAN NETTIE BEUS AND JOHN EDWARD MONTGOMERY

Marian Nettie Beus

I, Marian Nettie Beus Montgomery, was born 25th of August 1878 at Ogden, Weber, Utah to John Beus and Margaret Justet. My parents joined the Latter-day Saints in Northern Italy and came to Utah to be with the Saints. My father with his family crossed the plains with the first handcart company that came to Utah in 1856. My mother came a little later and crossed the plains with the ox teams. My father built the house where I was born. It has been remodeled and is still in use at the time of this writing.

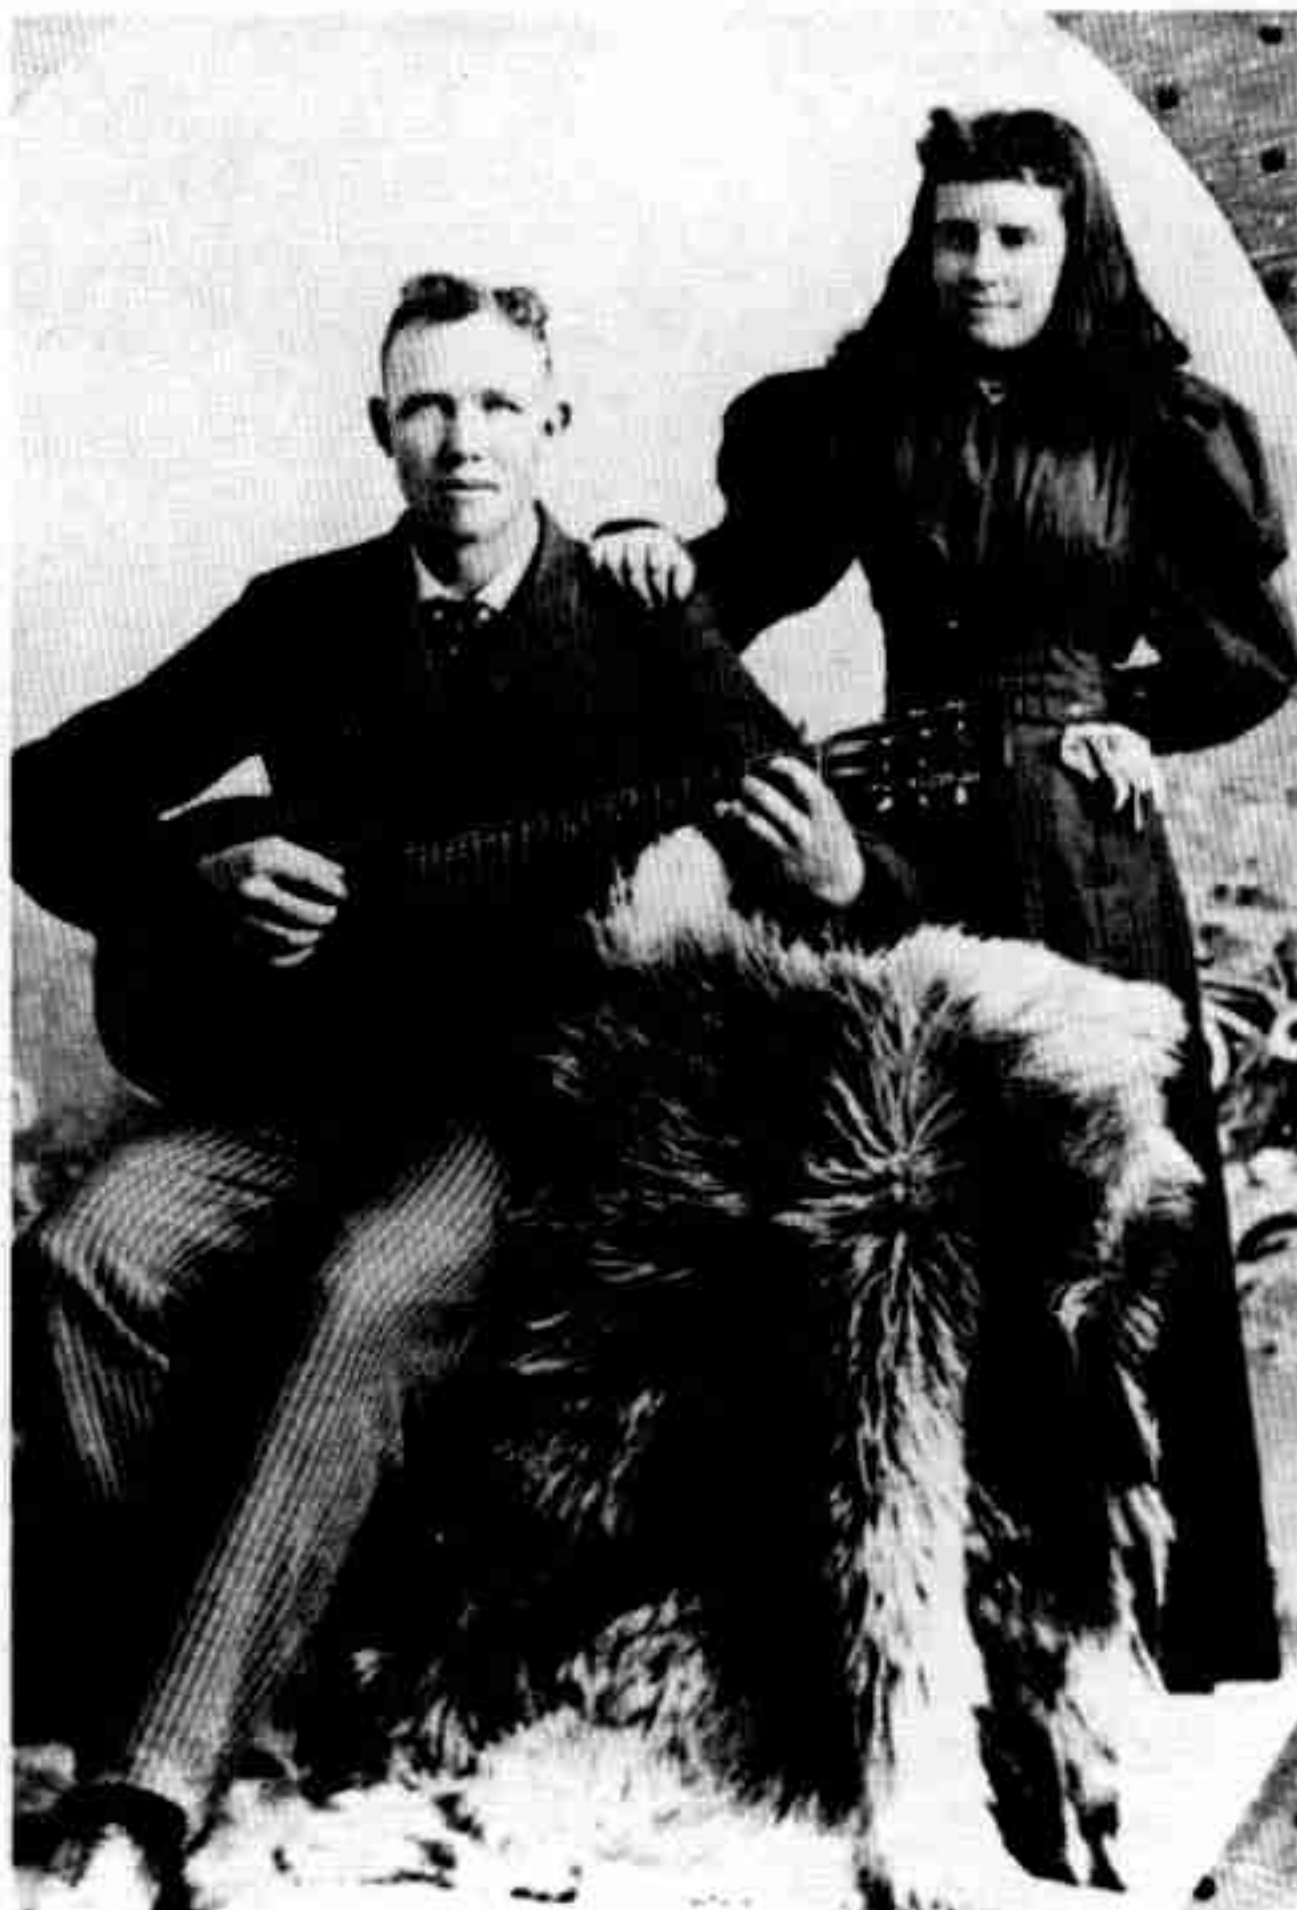

I and my two older brothers, Michael John and Daniel, were born in Ogden, I was the third child and the only girl. The family moved from Ogden to Paradise, Cache, Utah when I was small. I don't remember very much about our home there, only that our neighbor had a mean dog. Mother was afraid to let us play outside unless someone older was with us. While at Paradise another brother, James, was born.

Our next move was to Brigham City, Utah. I was still too young to remember much about the place. I guess times were very hard. My mother said they would buy a quart of milk and put enough water in it so we could all have some. I was too young to worry about that, as I don't think I ever went hungry.

Our next move was across the lake at Promontory, Utah. We lived there for five years. The neighbors would get together Sunday afternoon and go swimming in the lake. We children would play around in the shallow water. I remember one time there was a train wreck at the Promontory Pass. Oranges and tea were scattered down the mountain side. The farmers could have what they could pick up. It was a treat for us to have oranges. The only time we had oranges was at Christmas time. While at Promontory another brother, David Herbert, was born.

I had six weeks of schooling while we lived there. Then we found we were on Railroad land so we had to move again. We went back to Ogden for the summer. I will always remember that summer. I had never had girls to play with until then. Two of my cousins lived near us so we were able to have much fun together.

Father started out to find a ranch where he could keep his cattle. He had about a hundred head of cattle. He found a ranch at Raft River, Utah, right on the Idaho line. We moved there in November 1889. There was a foot of snow on the ground. We moved into a two-room log house with a dirt roof. A stable and cow shed were the only other buildings. No neighbors. A mile and one-half away there was one family. It seemed that we had left all civilization behind. There was no church nor school. The post office was seven miles away and the store ten miles away. As time went on we got used to it. The snow got so deep it covered the fences. We had sleighs in the winter and lumber wagons in the summer to get around. I had a good horse to ride. The mail came in once a week from Kelton, Utah to Yost, Utah, a small settlement on what they called Geirge Creek, a stream that came from melting snow on the Yost and Clear Creek Mountains.

After three years we went to Hooper, Weber, Utah for the winter, where my youngest brother, William Ariel was born. I went to school that winter. My cousin, James Beus was the teacher. Although I hadn't been where I could attend school I was able to go on with those of my age.

In the spring, we went back to the ranch. My two older brothers, Michael John and Daniel, had stayed there during the winter to take care of the cattle. About this time they organized a branch of the Church at Yost and my father was selected as Presiding Elder. For a time Sunday school was held in some one's home. I was put in as a Sunday school and Primary teacher. I was also secretary for the primary for years; also for the Relief Society. They sometimes held children's dances at Almo, Idaho. The first one of these dances I attended was with my brother, Daniel. They always took picnic, so my mother fixed us a nice lunch in a shiny brass bucket for us to take to the dance. We were so bashful we thought if we went to a corner all by ourselves we wouldn't be noticed, so we ate all by ourselves. Any way we learned to dance. There was usually a dance held every two weeks on Friday night during the winter. We enjoyed them very much, as that was the only recreation we had. We would eat at midnight, then dance till nearly morning. One other recreation I remember was the 4th and 24th of July celebration. Someone would go on horseback to the top of the mountain and bring snow back to freeze ice cream. This was always a fun time.

Eventually they built a meeting house which served for church and school. The seats were made from split logs. We would take quilts to sit on as the seats were rough. They built desks on the side of the wall for school one winter. I stayed with a family by the name of Tracy and went to school. Then my father built a two-room cabin close to the school and my two brothers, two other girls and myself stayed there and went to school. I finished grade school and had one year of high school studies, which the teacher was kind enough to see me through.

One night I met two young men from North Ogden at a dance. One was George Ranchall, the other was Edd Montgomery. Some of Edd's family was living at Yost. That was my first meeting with Edd. About two years later we were married 25 June 1896. John Edward Montgomery was born 19 Mar 1875 at North Ogden, Utah to Robert Montgomery and Ann Chadwick. After we were married we moved by ourselves, our first home was at Yost, about four miles up the canyon, in a two-room log cabin with a dirt roof. I lined the walls with print, the ceiling with factory and put a homemade carpet on the bedroom floor. It was cozy and we enjoyed it very much.

Our first baby, Lottie, was born the 3rd of November 1896 at Yost, Utah. This was in Grover Cleveland's time and times were hard and when the lady that waited on me charged us $3.00 we wondered how we could get that much money to pay her.

Our next baby, Katie, was born the 10th of August 1898 at Yost, Utah. The next baby, Leda, was born 24th of November 1899. When Leda was three weeks old we moved out of the canyon and I think I was more thrilled with this move than any I have ever made. It was so good to get out of that canyon.

We gave five acres of our land for the school and five acres for the church.

They built a fine school there and my father built a meeting house, which they are still using and will be for years to come.

Another baby girl, Jetta, was born 31st of March 1901 at Yost, Utah. We bought a sawmill, and set it up in the Standrod Canyon. I cooked there from early spring until sheep shearing time. Then I went along with the sheep shearing crew to do the cooking. I got some help and we had to do all the baking bread, cakes, and pies on camp stoves. There would be sixty or more to cook for each day, and on Sunday over a hundred. So many in the valley would come and stay for dinner just for an outing, in the grove of trees. We all enjoyed a good time. After shearing was over, back to the sawmill until haying time. We would take the crew from the mill, put up tents in the willows along the creek, where I would cook for the hay men. When the hay was all put up, back to the sawmill again. We always came home Saturday nights and spent Sundays at home. We always had a crowd of relatives for Sunday dinner.

We spent about ten years like this. During this time, John Robert was born, January 4, 1905. He was named after his two grandfathers. Then July 13, 1906 another boy was born. We named him Arthur Edward. There was no doctor closer than Oakley, which was 35 miles away so we did without unless it was something very serious, then we were usually taken to Ogden, 150 miles away, which was very slow going with team and wagons.

Soon after the Twin Falls tract opened, we came to the Salmon Tract drawing and we were lucky, we drew a forty acres on the Salmon Tract. We went back and sold our sawmill and home and moved two and one-half miles west of Kimberly, Idaho in August 1908. The farm we bought had a two-room house and there were eight of us, but we managed the first year. The winter was mild. It seemed so good after living where it was so cold. We drove a school wagon for three years, over dirt roads, and when it stormed the mud was terrible. The children went to school at Twin Falls. The farm didn't make much as it was in hay and hay sold for $2.50 a ton. We also raised bees and sold honey.

Our next boy, William Gail, was born 27th of September 1909 here at Kimberly. Then again on 4th August 1911 our last girl, Nettie, was born her at Kimberly. This made us five girls and three boys.

About this time we got interested in a mine at Jarbridge, Nevada. We ran a pack outfit for two years. Finally a road was built there. It looked so good there at the mine that we sold our farm and put $10,000.00 in the mine, figuring some day we would make money from it, but we didn't know the mining gave so we lost it all, as did a lot of our friends that we knew. Guess we have to live and learn.

Edd's health was failing now and he couldn't do heavy work, so we rented some ground and planted strawberries. We had moved in town at Twin Falls and most of the family could work in the berries so we made pretty good money with the berries.

Soon our family began leaving home. Leda was the first to get married. She married Lawrence McKinster 5th May 1919. Then Katie married Ben W. Bailey 13 May 1919. Then Jetta was married to Harry Abendroth the 1st November 1919. With the three getting married in one year it left a big vacant place in our home and in our hearts.

Edd worked in real estate for many years. Soon we began losing more of our family. Arthur Edward married Hazel Stepp August 1925. Lottie was married to John N. Jensen 8 February 1926 and Robert married Gala Crofts the 12th November 1926. Just about two years later Gail married Narva Bartley on 7th April 1928 and Nettie married Joe Burtin Calico on the 7th June 1928, so now our family was all married.

Nettie's baby Calvin Montgomery Calico, was born 23 April 1931. When he was one and one-half years old, his mother passed away, on 8 November 1932, with heart trouble. His father was killed in an auto accident 3 August 1934, so Calvin was left an orphan when very young. We kept the baby and raised him as our own.

Edd had been in poor health for five years and on 9 February 1935 he passed away, which left me a widow. I had Calvin with me until he was married to Jean Radmull on the 28th June 1952.

When Edd passed away we were living in a rented house so I moved in with my daughter Katie until I bought a home on 11th Avenue East in Twin Falls. I took in sewing to make a living.

I joined the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers, which I've enjoyed through the years. I worked in the Primary four years. Have been a visiting teacher in the Relief Society for twenty four years and class leader for visiting teachers three years.

I sold my home on 11th East and bought a home at 640 Blue Lakes Blvd. I lived there for several years, then the place got too much for me to take care of so I sold it to Calvin and moved in an apartment at 229 4th Avenue East. Soon after I moved here my oldest boy Robert passed away, 26th April 1957. He had been sick a long time.

I had 8 children and 18 grandchildren. At present I have 35 great-grandchildren. My life hasn't been very colorful, but it has sure been a busy one. I still do sewing and work for one of the stores, "The Paris", when they need extra help. I am close to church, which makes it handy for me. I manage to keep quite busy. There are so many things that could be written, but I'll just call this enough.

John Edward Montgomery

My grandfather, John Edward Montgomery, was born 19 Nov. 1873 in North Ogden, Weber

County, Utah. His father, Robert Jr. (born 6 May 1837 in Detroit, Michigan) built and ran a sawmill in North Ogden. When Robert was twenty-seven he met Ann Chadwick (born 8 May 1847 in St. Louis, Missouri). Ann was sixteen at the time. They married 23 Mar 1864. They had fifteen children, all born in North Ogden. John Edward was their fifth child. They also raised to adulthood Andrew Calahan and David Francis. Their tribute to Robert and Ann was that their own parents couldn't have been better to them. Here is a list of John Edward's brothers and sisters:

Robert Wilson	1 Feb 1866
Mary Alice	7 May 1867
William Abraham	2 Jan 1869
Joseph Albert	15 July 1870
John Edward	19 Mar 1873
Hyrum Smith	13 Oct 1874
Margaret Ann	10 September 1876
Eva Lillie	4 Aug 1878
James Nathaniel	27 June 1880
Charles Andrew	1 April 1882
Jane Isabel	25 Jan 1884
Olive Pearl	20 Nov 1885
Bessie Irene	6 April 1888
Sarah	12 April 1890
Heber Alma	6 Feb 1893

Robert Jr. Montgomery was not a polygamist.

"Ed", along with his brothers and sisters, was raised in a two-room house with a lean-to off one room and a porch. There was also a cellar a short distance away from the house. The cellar was always well-filled. Also, there was a grainery where the older boys slept. His mother was very industrious. The floor was usually cleaned after the family were all in bed. Margaret was the one who usually helped her mother.

When Ed was around twenty-three his whole family moved to George Creek Canyon, now called Yost, Box Elder, Co., Utah, where they took up 200 acres of land. His father said the reason they moved was to keep Ann from killing herself off. They had quite an orchard. There was plenty of fruit but no sale for fresh fruit. So Ann would have all the children busily cutting fruit and putting it out to dry; then selling it by the hundred pounds. Ann always said the reason she agreed to move was because they couldn't live on what Robert made. He loved his family dearly, but couldn't refuse to lend a helping hand whenever needed. Once again, they lived in a two-room log house with a dirt floor. Soon, they replaced that with a four-room house with a dirt roof.

Their home was always open to strangers. Young people loved to congregate there and they had many parties.

Again, Robert owned a sawmill. This was operated by steam. This sawmill provided work for all his sons.

Ed had met Marion Nettie Beus (born 25 Aug. 1878) in North Ogden at a dance. They dated for a couple of years and were married 25 June 1896 in Almo, Cassia Co., Idaho. After they were married, they lived in the same type of home that Ed had been raised in. The mode of travel was by horseback or in wagons with springboard seats or white top buggies. They lived in Yost, Utah. When Lottie, their first child was born, they paid a lady three dollars to help and they wondered how they were going to pay her. All told, they had five daughters and three sons. They were•

Nettie at age 86, with several generations of descendants.

When Leda was three weeks old--in 1899--they moved out of the canyon. Nettie was very thrilled with this move. They bought a sawmill and set it up in Standrod Canyon. They also ran sheep and were very busy at sheep-shearing time.

The family always spent Saturday night and Sunday at home. They would have crowds of relatives for Sunday dinner. They spent about the next ten years in this fashion. The nearest doctor was in Oakley, Idaho, 35 miles away.

When the Twin Falls Tract opened they came to the Salmon Tract drawing. They were lucky. They drew 40 acres on the Salmon Tract. They sold their sawmill and home and moved two and one-half miles west of Kimberly, Idaho. This move took place in August 1908.

The farm they bought had a two-room house. They drove the school wagon for three years. There were no graveled or paved roads at that time. The mud was terrible after a storm. Their children went to school in Twin Falls. The farm did not make much. It was in hay and hay sold for $2.50 a ton. They raised bees and sold honey.

Ed became interested in a mine in Jarbridge, Nevada. There was no road there at that time. They ran a pack outfit in and out for two years. Then a road was finally built. It look so good, they sold their farm and put $10,000 in the mine. They figured someday, they would make money from it. But they didn't know the mining game. They lost everything, as did a lot of their friends. Ed's health was failing. He couldn't do heavy work, so he rented some ground and planted strawberries. They moved into Twin Falls. Most of the family could work in the berries and they did pretty good.

As their family grew up and left home, Ed started working in real estate.

Their youngest daughter, Nettie, passed away, leaving a one and one-half year old baby son named Calvin Calico. Calvin's father was killed in an auto accident, so Calvin was an orphan at a very early age. Ed and Nettie kept Calvin and raised him as their own. For five years Ed's health kept failing, and on 9 Feb 1935 he passes away.

As a child, I remember going with my parents to the sawmill in Standrod Canyon. I remember family all around -- many joyous hours with my cousins that we would not have had otherwise. Feeding stray lambs with baby bottles -- tents with boards around the bottom -- helping (I'll bet we really helped her) Grandmother prepare food.

My grandfather was a large man. He had ice-blue eyes and curly light hair. He was a jolly fellow, with most people. He and my grandmother raised me for quite a while after I was born, because Leda, my mother, was very ill. I was always "June Bug" to my grandfather.

He loved to peel potatoes and slice them very thin (no one could slice as thin as he) and fry them on the top of a little round black stove they used for heat. So we had "potato chips" before they became a staple on grocery shelves.

Their home was always cozy and warm. I always felt most welcome there.

Grandpa died of Bright's Disease. He had been cautioned to not eat fried foods such as bacon, fried potatoes and the like, but years of habit were too strong to break and it took his life at 62.

My grandmother did their temple work 17 Oct. 1935.

WILLIAM ARIEL BEUS AND LOVINA JANE HISKEY

William Ariel Beus

My father, William Ariel Beus, was born November 26th 1890 at Hooper, Utah. His parents were John Beus and Margaret Justet. He was the youngest of five boys and one girl. When he was still a child, his father bought some land at Raft River, Utah. The post office was at Yost, Utah, seven miles from their homestead land. The nearest store was at Almo, Idaho, which was ten miles away. There was not a school or church at that time. I remember my dad telling me that his father said if this was to be our home we need a church. Nearly all of the people at Yost were L.D.S., so they wanted a branch of their church. Daddy's father and his five sons all helped build the church. They hauled rocks from miles around for the church and also for the seven-room homestead that they were in the process of building. My dad was about six years of age then. Fred, My husband and I decided to go see the homestead and Yost. I had not been there for a good many years and we wanted to take my mother. We met Jess and Louella Tracy. She was the postmistress at the Yost post office for many years. They have since become very dear friends and have told us a great deal about the Beus family.

Daddy married Lavina Jane Hiskey, April 15th 1914 at Yost. They homesteaded 640 acres in Lynn Utah for three years. A boy, Daniel Wayne, was born, who lived only eight days. A year later Arvilla Wanda was born. They then moved to Hollister, Idaho where my brother Dale was born. Daddy and Mom then moved to Buhl, where Daddy worked on a farm. I was born in Buhl in 1921. Daddy had hay fever quite bad and had to quit farming. He went to work on the railroad and was forman on a bridge-building crew. We moved to Glens Ferry, where we spent most of our childhood. Daddy was only home on weekends because of his work. He spent a lot of time in Nampa, so we moved there in 1932. As soon as we moved and got used to having Daddy home, he was transferred to another place. Once again he was only home on weekends. However, when he was home he did not want to leave and he enjoyed being with all of us. We did take trips to see his brothers and sister at Bliss, Idaho and at Twin Falls, Idaho.

When we lived in Glens Ferry, from 1923 to 1931, we always celebrated the fourth of July by going to Hagerman, Idaho. We had a Chevrolet (I think) cruising car. We would get up very early and come home very late. We had a lot of good times, lots of things to do and to see. Daddy was fun to be with, he was such a tease. His Aunt Jetta tells us how he would tease her and tie her to the clothes line post. Even though he was "Willie the Tease", he was very kind and a generous man, a loving father and grandfather. He loved to read books like the National Geographic and even though he did not go to church very often he would read all the church books. He also liked gourmet foods, like steak smothered with mushrooms, good old fashioned cream, real thick. He would put it on a slice of home made bread and sprinkle it with sugar. After I was married in 1946 Daddy would come to my place on Sunday afternoons and watch the Leonard Bernstein Orchestra on TV. Music was what he liked the best. He played the fiddle when he was younger at the barn dances at Yost.

Daddy had a heart attack when he was 64 years old. He had to rest a lot, so our daughter, Julie, would babysit him. She was about 8 years old. They would read and talk about a lot of deep scientific subjects. We also had a cocker Spaniel dog named "Penny". When we left in the mornings for work and school, we would say to Penny "Go see grandpa," and off she would go. They only lived a couple of blocks away. Penny and Daddy would sit in the back yard and while away the hours. Daddy also took care of my brother's dog when he was in Spain in the service. He really loved dogs, and always had one when he was growing up.

Daddy would come to our place on Saturday mornings and talk about his parents and about his life at Yost and Raft River. Oh how I wish I could remember more of what he told me! I really miss our Saturday mornings together. I was the only one of his kids that stayed in Nampa, so every so often he would give me extra money for staying home with Mom when he was gone so much. I worked for the telephone company in the business office and one day he came in, never said a word, but left a small package on my desk. It was a small pen and pencil set. He gave it to me for no reason. He was a generous man and liked to share. The last gift I received from him was some money for a bible. I had church books, but not a nice bible, and one day he said, "Swede"(that was what he always called me because when I was little I had white hair), "you need a nice bible."

Daddy passed away July 16th 1963. We all miss him very much. The last time we went to Yost, we got to go in the old church that Daddy helped build. There was an old organ there that was all dirty and covered with paint. The date on the organ is 1901, so everyone is sure that a Beus gave the organ to the church. Louella Tracy said she would talk to the families in the area and see if we could have it. Approximately three years later she called and said "it's yours, Betty." I was thrilled about it. My husband restored it so that it is beautiful, and it will stay in the Beus family forever. There are many memories in the old organ, and when we look at it we remember Daddy.

Lovina Jane Hiskey

Lovina Jane Hiskey was born in Mona, Juab County, Utah. She was one of nine children: -- seven girls and two boys.

Peter Michael Hiskey, her father, was a railroad worker, so they lived in a section house, and this is where she was born, November 13, 1895, on a Friday. She always said the number thirteen was a lucky number for her.

In 1904 she was baptized in the Sevier River, along with her sister Emma who was thirteen years old.

Her schooling was at Mona, Utah, then called Mills, and later at Nephi, Utah where she attended one year of high school. She lived with her aunt, Rinth Ostler, and cousin, Susie, but would go home on the train for the weekends. It was her first time away from home, so she got homesick.

When was thirteen years old she got pneumonia, and was very ill. All her hair fell out. Her mother clipped it short to the scalp. It was slow coming back in, and she always had fine thin hair.

In 1910 she graduated from school, at the age of fifteen. Her best friend was Sadie Kay. They were always together going to the Latter-Day Saint church in Mona. They also went to school together and later to the dances.

When she was seventeen years old she went to Yost, Utah to work for an older sister, Mary Hiskey Shaver. It was here she met Willie Beus, who was playing for dances -- he played the violin. He asked for a date, and in a short time they were planning to be married. They went by horse and buggy to Twin falls, Idaho to the home of his sister, Nettie Beus Montgomery and her husband. Edward Montgomery and Nettie Montgomery went with them, and they were married April 15, 1914.

They lived in Lynn, Utah and homesteaded 640 acres for three years. William (or Bill, as he was called) also herded sheep for his older brother, Daniel.

On March 25, 1915 her first child was born - a boy, Daniel Wayne. He lived only until April 2 because of premature birth.

They lived in a log cabin in Lynn. Lovina fixed it with curtains at the windows. They had a table and chairs, one rocking chair, a bed and chest, and also a stove to cook on and for heat. The winters were cold, with lots of snow. The water had to be carried from a spring over a block away. There was a bench in the kitchen to put the pails of water on.

July 6, 1916 a baby girl was born. She was named Arvilla Wanda, and was born at Lynn.

Hollister, Idaho was their next home. In 1917 they moved there, on the Salmon Tract, and farmed 120 acres. Bill raised alfalfa. On April 11, 1919 their third child was born, a boy, named William Dale Beus. A Spanish-American nurse helped with the birth, and there was another woman to do the house work. Arvilla was afraid of her. Their neighbors and friends were German people and their daughter Esther liked little children, so she would come to the Beus home and play with Arvilla and hold the baby, Dale. Because there was a water shortage they moved to Buhl, Idaho in 1920. They lived at the Thomas Smith home, bought hay and fed sheep for his brother, Daniel. In 1921 they moved a mile from the Smith home. Here their fourth child, a girl, was born January 26th of that year. She was a sweet, happy baby, and Arvilla wanted to hold her all the time. They named her Betty Jeanne. It was in this home that the lightning struck their home, burning Lovina on the arm and knocking her to the floor and spraining her ankle. Bill had hay fever so bad that they moved into the town of Twin Falls, Idaho. This was in 1922. They lived there eight months and then Bill got a job on the railroad at Glens Ferry, Idaho, so they moved there in 1923 and lived there ten years. Lovina was active in the L.D.S. Church. She was a visiting teacher, and worked in the Primary organization, as well as holding positions in the Relief Society. She was a good worker in the stitchery groups. She loved to do fancy work, crocheting and embroidering.

Nampa, Idaho was there next move, it being made in August of 1932. Bill was transferred there, and they lived there until he retired from the railroad at 65. He had heart trouble and passed away in Nampa at the age of 73.

On August 7, 1964 Lovina's granddaughter, Donna Rae Snead Doman, took her to the Idaho Falls Temple. They went by West Coast Airlines. This was a wonderful experience for her. Later that year she returned to the temple and was sealed to her husband and had their little baby who passed away sealed to them.

Lovina was a very good housekeeper. Her house was always clean from dust and dirt. She spent many hours ironing clothes so they would be wrinkle-free. Bill's clothes were always ironed perfect, as were the childrens'.

Lovina loved her children and also loved all her grandchildren. She now lives in Star, Idaho in a women's shelter with four other ladies. She is 88 years old. We all visit her and take her to lunch and for car rides.
